

A young child with dark skin and curly hair, wearing a blue hoodie and blue pants, is kneeling on a circular rug in a bedroom. The child is facing a large window with blue curtains, looking out at a night scene with trees and a full moon. The room is dimly lit with warm light from bedside lamps. There are toys on the floor, including a teddy bear and a ball. The title 'My Father and Me: How to Pray' is written in large white letters at the top, and 'For Kiddies' is in a red stamp-like box on the right. The author's name 'A. Carter' is at the bottom.

I believe in my heart that I have all that I ask for.
I ask for what is in my heart.

I keep believing and keep asking until I see what I ask for.

I go to my Father in secret right where I am and He is always there.

My Good Father, who is in secret, rewards me when I meet Him there.

Jesus, His Son, gave me His own name.
We are one family with the same name.

When I pray to our Father, I pray in His name.
I am a child of God.

I make my home in Jesus.
His words are at home in me.

I ask and I pray agreeing with His words and it is done for me.

I talk to my loving Lord
with no anger in my heart.
I forgive those who hurt me
so He forgives my wrongs too.

When I talk to the Lord and He answers me,
His joy makes me joyful.

When I think of others before myself,
my Lord in Heaven thinks of me.
He knows what I need before I ask
so there is no need to worry.

My Father loves me so much and He has everything I need.
He is so glad when I pray,
because I become more like Him.
